In September 2016, JOGC published a new SOGC clinical practice guideline (CPG) titled “Management of spontaneous labour at term in healthy women”. Published on behalf of the Clinical Practice Obstetrics Committee, this new guideline replaced the 1995 CPG on Dystocia and expanded guidance for the intrapartum management of spontaneous labour for normal or abnormal labour in term, healthy women.

Objectives:
- Summarize highlights of the new SOGC management of spontaneous labour guideline
- Discuss areas of controversy and knowledge gap in the guideline
- Propose knowledge translation strategies to facilitate guideline implementation

Presenter:
Lily Lee, RN, MSN, MPH - Director, Provincial Registry, Surveillance, Performance & Analytics Perinatal Services BC
