

CAPWHN has updated the look of its newsletter! We hope to keep you current, up to date, and informed on the changes happening in perinatal, women's health and neonatal nursing across the country. The news briefs aim to be short, more frequent, and with a fresh new look.

Follow CAPWHN on Twitter and Facebook (@CAPWHN) to stay current on all our events.

02

Call for Abstracts

CAPWHN invites nurses and other health professionals in perinatal and women's health who are members, non-members and students to submit abstracts for presentation at the 2019 CAPWHN Annual Clinical, Education, Research Conference to be held November 8-10, 2019 in Vancouver, BC. Click here for more information.

DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSIONS EXTENDED TO MARCH 28, 2019

Abstracts for oral and poster presentations are welcome in either English or French. All abstracts are peer reviewed. Abstracts must be submitted online no later than MARCH 28, 2019 at midnight PT. All accepted abstract presenters must register for the CAPWHN National Conference and pay the appropriate registration fee.

Breastfeeding Committee for Canada

03

The Breastfeeding Committee for Canada (BCC) is implementing a pan-Canadian Quality Improvement Collaborative Project to scale up the implementation of the Baby-Friendly Initiative (BFI) and thereby improve maternal infant health. Hospitals with maternity and newborn services are encouraged to learn more about the BFI Project and click here to apply to participate by March 31, 2019.

